

Who's the Fool?

1. Beware the danger that lurks behind
The bravado of a quirky mind,
The slippery tongue twisting the facts,
Deflecting, double-talking, denying all acts,
Openly defying the law of the land.
Once "United States", now divided we stand.

2. Continual denial, all-the-while
Deflecting accusations, with counter-accusations.
Ranting 'n' raving, against everyone,
Wanting justice to come undone.
Cozying up to a foreign power
To promote a campaign in the ultimate hour.
You know something's gone seriously wrong
When The Art of the Deal becomes the art of the con.
The Bill of Rights through a lens of distortion, Wait — doesn't freedom include the right to abortion?
T'almost be funny f'weren't so cruel.
But you gotta ask, "Who's the fool?"

3. Now Truth exists, but so does the lie
Could make the Statue of Liberty cry.
Don't get duped by a slogan or tweet,
Use discernment, rise above deceit.
Not lookin' rosy, but don't give in,
There's work to do, so let's begin!

4. Some stoop low tryin' a even the score;
Gotta practice what you preach, not what you deplore.
Name-calling, intimidation, and hate
Debase the prowess of our nation-state.
You can't have peace by resorting to war;
Nor democracy on the backs of the poor.
Society means civil discourse,
Talk to your neighbors—no call for force,
If truth is in question, check out the source.
To save our Constitution from falling in tatters
Realize that Ev'ry Vote Matters!

5. Now I'm sure you've heard of the Golden Rule
Way back in elementary school.
Do unto others as you'd have 'em do unto you
Reap the karma of what you do.
Now here we are in 2024,
And things are happening' you can't ignore.
Put a man on the moon, fly a mission to Mars,
Explore our origin among the stars,
But Peace and Love's where we want to be.
Right here on earth, now what's the key?
And Shame on us if we can't agree.
The pendulum's swingin' a time of renewal;
Seize the day, otherwise: "Who's the fool?"

CODA Interlude "Yeah, who's the fool?
Carpe diem!"
